Often in Starfleet an officer from another force is allowed to serve on a Federation vessel, station, or other posting, but they keep their forces rank, and report to both their force, and to Starfleet in a secondary way. Their first allegiance is to their own force. These are called Liaison Officers

Liaison Officer: A person who is employed to form a working relationship between two organizations to their mutual benefit, and to communicate and coordinate their activities. Generally, liaison officers are used to achieve the best utilization of resources or employment of services of one organization by another.
